There are many medicines that give transient relief in sickness without touching the source and seat of the complaint. Hostetter's Stomach Mitters is not one of these. The great tonic and restorative does not cobble the diseased and enfechied system. It is not a mere pailistive, that only temporarily controls a few unpleasant symptoms. Not its invigorating, regulating, restorative principle penetrates to the very source of the difficulty in the fluids and solids of the body, and hence its cures are radical and thorough. In dyspepsis it strengthens the stomach, in liver complaint it regulates the flow of bile, in constitution it premotes a punctual habit of body, in nervous affincults it tone the sentiouts and motive fibres,

The Philadelphia Lagister says: A very novel organization has recently made its appearance in this city which is apt to attract considerable attention and a liberal patronage from the unmarried portion of the community. The society is called the German American Matrimonial Help Society.

Societies of this nature exist in Europe, and include an extensive memberahlp, though this is the first attempt which has been made to inaugurate them in this country.

The society is to be divided into divisions, each division containing one thousand members. The divisions are to be subdivided into three different classes, according to the ages of the members and the amount of mouthly assessments.
